

Help Your Students Go the Extra Mile for Kids with Cancer

Looking to start your school year off on the right foot? Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation (ALSF) invites you and your students to join The Million Mile – an annual fundraiser where every team's steps count towards a collective goal of running, walking or biking one million miles and raising one million dollars for childhood cancer research. It's an excellent event to increase student involvement and teach kids that they can make a difference.

Just register your team(s) online, log your miles, and start fundraising all September long! It's free to sign up!

Put the FUN in Fundraising

- Set a fundraising goal for your school and work together as one big team
- Register teams for each grade/class for a schoolwide competition of who can move the farthest and fundraise the most.
- Have students and teachers compete head-to-head for more steps/dollars. We have a printout calendar you can use for students to log their steps or miles for the day.
- Make The Million Mile a part of your spirit week by dedicating an awareness day or give the class with the most miles/funds points.
